Isolation

It is important to isolate yourself from others. If you need to seek medical care urgently, notify the provider that you have MPOX. Now I'm going to ask you some questions about your health and living situation to determine if you can safely isolate.

Ask the following questions to understand the case's ability to self-isolate.

Where are you staying right now?

How many people use the same bathroom as you?

Zip code _____
Phone number ___
Teacher's name

Do you have a bathroom in your place that can be just for you until you are out of your isolation period?

Do you need to come into close contact with others because of your disability, healthcare/support needs, or accessibility needs? (ex: does the case use a service a service to help them navigate, does the case have a home health aide, does the case rely on family members for support around the home?)

You should isolate until your rash is fully resolved, scabs have fallen off, and a fresh layer of intact skin has formed. This may take about 2-4 weeks from the time you first developed symptoms.

During this time, you should:

- *Keep lesions covered and remain separate until the rash is gone, all scabs have fallen off, and the skin below has healed.
- *Stay home except for emergencies or follow-up medical care. If you have a medical appointment, call the office before you go to see if they have any procedures for you to follow.
- *Restrict any family, friends, or other visitors in your home to those with an essential need to be in the home.
- *Avoid close contact with other people and pets (mammals) in your home.
- *Do not share potentially contaminated items, such as bed linens, clothing, towels, drinking glasses, or eating utensils.
- *Routinely clean and disinfect commonly touched surfaces and items.
- *Wear a well-fitting mask when in close contact with others at home or if you need to leave the home.
- *Do not let others touch your skin, especially any areas with a rash. Consider wearing disposable gloves if you have lesions on your hands and live with others or if you need to leave the home. Ensure your clothing covers all rashes or lesions when in close contact with others.
- *Do not use commercial travel such as airplanes, buses, trains/light rails, taxis, or rideshare services.
- *Wash your hands often with soap and water or use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer, especially before eating or touching your face, and after you use the bathroom.
- *Avoid use of contact lenses to prevent inadvertent infection of the eye.
- *Avoid shaving rash-covered areas of the body as this can lead to spread of the virus.
- **Do not kiss, hug, cuddle, or have sex with others.

Network/Cluster Contact Elicitation:

We want to make sure that the information you provided is used to identify gaps in prevention services to ensure that we are helping folks that need support as quickly as possible. Who else do you know in your network who attends similar events could benefit from getting vaccinated and tested?

Who else in your network would you like us to reach out to and support in connecting them with getting vaccinated and tested? Note: If you receive any additional contacts add them as a cluster contact above.

Now I am going to ask you about places you have been during your contagious period. The amount of time people are contagious varies from person to person. Some people can spread mpox to other before their symptoms appear. You are contagious starting four days before you began to experience symptoms until your rash is fully recovered and the last scabs have fallen off, revealing healthy skin underneath.

Have you visited, attended, employed, or volunteered at any public settings (Childcare, health care setting, etc.) while contagious?

We are finished with our questions. What additional questions or thoughts do you have that we have not covered? If you have questions about MPOX or how to take care of your symptoms, visit the Washington State Department of Health website for information about MPOX and self-care recommendations while you isolate.

We recognize that this experience may be stressful for you, those you care about, and your community. It is natural to feel overwhelmed, sad, anxious and afraid, or to experience other symptoms of distress, such as trouble sleeping. You can reduce your stress by anticipating these normal reactions and practicing stress-reducing activities. Do your best to stay focused on what can be done today, and seek support among friends and loved ones.

Stay in touch with your medical provider and ask for their help in the event that MPOX symptoms cause concerns, and support or referrals if you need assistance coping with the stress this may bring you. If you are feeling overwhelmed and having mental health concerns or thoughts of suicide, call 988 to talk to a trained counselor. This service is available in any language.

Thank you very much for your time today. More importantly, thank you for trusting us to share with us the information that you have provided.
